Much Information For Prospective Donors is Contained Here - You Ask The Questions, We Answer Them.

Much interest is being taken in the Blood Donor Clinic-Grimsby's own- - to be held in Trinity hall on Wednesday afternoon, June 23, from three until six o'clock.

While Grimsby people have made 412 blood donations in the past two years, they have had to travel to Hamilton to do so. That is all over now. Henceforth the clinics will be held right here in Grimsby.

Much information of interest to donors and prospective donors contained in the following list of "Questions and Answers" on the subject, issued by the Blood Donor Service of the Canadian Red Cross: Why Does the Canadian Red Cross Dr. Donald Clark Struck Down Need Blood?

Dried serum can only be made from human blood. This serum is needed in very large quantities for the treatment of members of our Armed Forces as well as civilians who are war casualties. Canadian dried blood scrum is now being used on all fighting fronts.

GRIMSBY HAS LOST A CITIZEN

Grimsby last week suffered the loss of a citizen that it could ill afford. The sudden and untimely end of Dr. Donald Clark came as a shock that tightened the nerves and froze the blood. It was unbelievable, but too true. The Great Being of All Had Reached Down and Taken His Son Above.

Dr. Clark was an exemplary citizen. A man who believed in the development of all civic enterprises. A man who loved sport of all kinds for sports sake, not for gain or greed. A man who could see humor in a situation where the average human being would grow a grouch. A man who loved flowers and animals, but had no animosity against the man who did not. A man who loved his home and wanted every other man to love his; if he didn't have one, to try and attain one. A man who was- well folks, he was just a God's Honest Man.

That's the Citizenship side of it. Now I'll tell you my side of it. I rode that old H. G. & B. with "Doc" Clark, so did hundreds of other kids in this district from Beamsville to Bartonville switch.

We all rode the 7.10 a.m. out of Beamsville, the 7.40 out of Grimsby and the 7.43 out of Dr. Clark's, and there never was a motorman that left him behind. We kids were all going to business college in Hamilton, and we all crowded into the smoker, where we really had no business being, but "Doc" Clark was there. Sitting up in the corner, pipe emanating smoke rings, he regaled us with many a story. Many a piece of advice that has served me, and I believe has served others, in the years that have passed.

Then out of Hamilton, the old 4.10. When it pulled out "Doc" would check the kids. If there were any missing he wanted to know. The odd time he would miss it himself, and it is the truth, us kids wanted to know.

As the years went on I grew to know the "Doc" better and many a word of wisdom and bit of friendly advice he gave me, which I can honestly say I have profited by.

Grimsby has lost an exemplary citizen. I have lost a real, true friend.

A NICE MESS IN ONTARIO

Is there actually such a thing as an Ontario government?

Many people all over the province are asking this question, and rightly so.

As matters stand now the newly elected holder of the Premie.'s seat, Harry Nixon, is nothing more than a Puppet Premier. The real power behind the Ontario throne is down. in Ottawa. Every time that Willie King, the creator of the Valley of Humiliation, barks, Nixon jumps through the hoop.

King wanted an election. Nixon is giving it to him. An election that the Liberal members in the House four months ago said they did not want, when they voted a year's extension to the life of the government.

An election that the people as a whole do not want. There are some who do, sure, but they are only political ward heelers who see another golden opportunity to feather their

The doing away with the secret ballot insofar as the fighting forces overseas are concerned.

Shades of Sir John A. MacDonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier!

Our men and women on the battle fronts will be asked to vote by proxy. Who ever heard tell of such a thing in a democratic country, such as we claim Canada is.

You all read the newspapers and by now should be familiar with the purported workings of this dastardly system. You have all formed your own conclusions on the matter. am ready to gamble that not 10 per cent of the citizens in the two provinces agree with

Is it sensible to suppose that if I, a boiled in oil Tory, were to receive some of these proxies that I would take them and vote for the Liberal candidate, or the C.C.F. standard bearer. Would you bet money, that if certain hard shelled Grits in this town and county received proxies, that they would go and vote them for a Conservative candidate. No. Neither one of us would and that condition will exist all over the province, and yet the boy who is doing the fighting will not have his opinion expressed, as he rightfully should

Nixon and King and all the rest of crew should be proud of that fact that they are foisting an unwanted election on the people of this province and should be doubly proud of the fact that they are taking away from our Democratic fighting forces, their first principle of Democracy,-The Secret Ballot.

A MARRIED MAN

We are indibted to George Carver, sage philosopher of the Belleville Ontario Intelligencer, for the following:

- 1. My wife is my boss. I shall not deny it.
- She maketh me lie down under the car to see why it rattleth and she leadeth me to every antique sale she hears about.
- She restoreth my pocketbook after she hath spent all its contents for linee-high skirts and movie tickets. She leadeth me up the main aisle of the church for her new hat's sake.
- Yea, though I walk through every store trying to find a new shoulder strapfor her old handbag. I get no rest, for she is behind me with a lashing tongue that does anything but comfort me.
- She prepareth a cold snack for me frona can, then she maketh a bee line Mothers' Domestic Science Club. anointeth my head with a rolling pin. My arms runneth over with bundles before she is half through with her shopping.
- Surely, her dressmaker's and her millinery bills shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house with my wife forever.

CHILDHOOD MEMORY

To the imagination of childhood, says The 11 ated Word, there was a fearful fascination about Mr. Hawkins. As the town butcher, he had direct relations with death, sharing his distinction with the family doctor and the undertaker; but Mr. Hawkins looked his part. Off duty, the doctor was a friend of the family, while nooody could be a more cheerful person than the undertaker, when he was p. Torning his secondary function of selling ; a en-oak furniture.

Recollection of Mr. Hawkins brings no picture of him off duty. He is inseparable from his shop. Ther he could be four.d. early or late. except .n 'he mornings reserved for slarghtering. He was a burly man, with a black mustache, arms that would have done credit to a village blacksmith, and a white apron streaked with the blood of his victims. A small boy gave his order to Mr. Hankins respectfully, for one never knew that he might not try the edge of his cleaver on a human neck, if he was annoyned.

Actually he was a kind-hearted man. The custom was that an odd copper in change belonged to the child loing the errand, and Mr. Hawkins always saw that the odd copper was forthcoming. Otherwise, the art of computation was for him a toilsome task. The deftness that he displayed with his knife was not transferred to the stubby and frequentimoistened pencil with which he figured out the cash side of each transaction.

Peace to his ashes! Gratitude for many an all-day sucker and liquorice stick makesone of his former customers thankful the Mr. Hawkins never had to struggle with te intricacies of the test charts provided forthe

He could understand the diagrams of a side of beef, but the instructions for calculating prices and percentages would have broken his spirit. One can picture him reading again and again the sentence: "The test chart is based on the formula that per cen . x cents per pound equals $ per hundredweight." He scratches his head, pushes back his derby hat, studies the chart again, looks towards the polite representative of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board who is trying to explain it to him. Then Mr. Hawkins' hand reaches for his cleaver, and the curtain falls.

WE BELIEVE IT

From the Chicago Daily News we learn that it is believed the first newspaper was published in Chira in 713 A.D., and two days later Old Subscriper wrote in, letting the editor know how to conduct his sheet.

We believe that. Every word of it, because long experience in newspaper work has impressed its truth upon us, opines the Editor of The Scaforth Expositor.

Why, just two or three weeks ago we wrote something about the weather-absolutely true at the time it was written toobut we have regretted it ever since.

Now we have been accused by letter, by phone and by word of mouth, of setting the weather man assinst the country at large. Of flooding the land and delaying the seeding and things like that. One fellow phoned from his home the night the paper reached him-and, possibly it was the first night in a month he had spent in the home-te say that what we didn't know about the weather, would take more than The Expositor to tell.

Others have told us about the same thing in many different ways, so now we are off the weather. We feel like leaving it alone. In fact, we feel that about the onlyconsistent friends we have had for quite some time are the free advertisers.

Frank Fairborn, Jr.

From the minutes of the village council of 1877, Andrew Randall, proprietor of the Mansion House, (Grandfather of Miss Edna Randall), was in the bad graces of the village fathers for feeding itinerant endigents without an order from the Reeve. His bill for $3 was ordered not paid until the matter be duly investigated and furthermore the council would not pay for a tramp's grub if the meal cost more than twelv and-a-half cents. The bums must have been living high previous to that

In 1877 a man named William Underhill ran the village bakery and on April first of that year some person or persons unknown, left a baby on his doorstep. It was presumed at that time that it was just a foolhardy April Fool joke, but such was not the case, for we find that the matter was up for discussion at the council meeting on April fourth when a motion was passed that ,"Squire Forbes be authorized to make such arrangements for the care of the child as may be found necessary and that he employ a constable or a detective to investigate into the circumstances, to find out the party or parties leaving said child. Whatever became of the kid or who the guilty farties were, my records do not show.

In '77 Hugh H. Anderson was tax collector and pound keeper without salary and John K. Duvall was appointed constable and Board of Health without remuneration. At the September meeting of this year the whole council was appointed a committee to buy a are engine. October meeting of council was not held as the members were all bur, every night coon hinting. At the December meeting a bylaw was introduced to prohibit the running at large of swin, horses, bulls, or rams. Apparently the female of the species had special privileges then,

At the January 1878 meting of council E. M. Mihell was appointed Village Clerk in the stead of Jas. A. Randall. W. F. Clarke was appointed Assessor at a salary of $8 per year. Tavern license fees were raised from $60 to $80 per year. Grimsby had three at that time. The village books were kept at the home of the clerk and carried to and from meetings in a tin box. In April of this year a by-law was brought before council for the issuance of debentures for the purchase of a new fire engine. The by-law was voted upon by the citizens on May 6th and carried.

On the morning of June 20th, 1879, the agricula & tural works of John H. Grout and Co., situated where the Baptist Church now stands, burned to the ground, and that same night the citizens held a public meeting at which a resolution was passed asking council to consider the granting of a $1,000 bonus to the company. Council met two days later and discussed the matter but took no action until October when a bylaw was introduced and submitted to the raepayers on November 7th and carried by an almost unanimous vote. A few days later council ratified the bylaw and the debentures were sold and the money paid over on December 5th. In the meantime the Grout Company had gone ahead building what is now known as The Independent Building and adjacent buildings and the first heat in the new foundry mouiding shop was taken off on Christmas Eve, of 1879.

August 30th will be the 107th anniversary of the first real total abstinence society in Upper Canada. For seven years the province had been stirred up against the excessive consumption of liquor by emissaries from a society founded at Montreal in 1828, to whom were added most of the Methodist and Baptist preachers, a majority of whom were from the United States. The seed was first sown at a meeting in Bastard Township in what we would call the Brockville district and the harvest was quick; indeed it was asserted that in 1832 there were at least 100 societies in Upper Canada; but they were all local. There was no attempt at unity until August 30, 1836, when a regional conference was held in the Presbyterian church at St. Catharines, where delegates were presented from Thorold, Lundy's Lane, Pelham, Grimsby, Smithville, Beamsville, Grantham, Gainsboro, Niagara, Allanburg and St. Catharines, which town was in the front rank, having an African Temperance society working among the fugitive slaves. That convention adopted pretty drastic resolutions, not only a personal total abstinence pledge for its members, but hints that tradesmen, especially grocers, who continued to sell liquor would be refused trade.

This St. Catharines convention was followed on September 28, 1836, by a conventinon at Toronto when plans were laid for a federation of all the exsting societies and extension of the work. Unfortunately, within a year came the Mackenzie uprising and the temperance movement was set back a full decade, rather an ironical consequence, for limitation of the liquor trade and curtailment of drinking was always a plank in the platform of the Mackenzie Reformers.

HOPE FOR "DUTCH" SHANTZ

St. Peter was sad and weary, For years he had stood by the gate, He had listened to stories and pleadings, Life stories of love and of hate.

He turned them all down in a jiffy, All failed when it came to the test, While many had lived fairly decent, Yet no one had lived at his best.

The work for the day was near over, St. Peter looked tired and thin. He'd sent a multitude down below, But nary a soul passed in.

But bold! "How's this?" St. Peter cried, As a quiet soul stood trembling "W'at hast thou done of bad or good or anything worth remembering?

The spirit spoke with busky voice, "I know I cannot pass, For I was called the meanest man-I supplied the people gas."

St. Peter stood silent and thoughtful, But at last he said with a grin, "You've had trouble enough for one poor soul, So I guess I'll let you in."

Scripture Reading-2nd Peter 1:1-II. Golden Text, Verse 4.

The Historical Setting

It is believed that Peter was taken to Rome as a prisoner A.D. 67 and after a period of imprisonment was crucified with his head downward. This letter of our lesson was written shortly before he died,

An Introduction to the Lesson The Lord had told Peter that he would die as a martyr in the cause of the Gospel (John 21:18, 19). Before giving up his ministry he wrote this last epistle to the scattered believers whom he loved so well. The safety of the believers was to be found in cleaving to the word of God and growing in grace and in the knowledge of Christ. Even the most sincere Christians are apt to become self-complacent and to settle down, forgetting that we must be ever on the alert if we would really count for God, whose precious promises are given to cheer and encourage us on our pilgrim way.

Application

Twice in our lesson, in verses 5 and 10, we are exhorted to give diligence. We need to be on our guard against spiritual lethargy and to be ever alert to the opporunities given us for growth in the nings of God.

Return Of The Spinning Wheel

Our genial editor has placed a clipping on our dant which tells . farm and of the return of the spinning wheel to its daily labour in of cotton village homes of Quebec. The reason for this is the scar and wool for domestic use resulting from the war. So the spinning wheel and its appurtenances have been brought down from the mansarde (attic to you and me), and mother and the girls are turning out the family rag bag for wool and cotton garments that can be reprocessed. This work, done at home, results in 90% of the garment being salvaged, whereas a manufacturer can salvage only 40 to 45%.

Every woman who came to New France from 1627 onward brought her spinning wheel with her. When it came time for her daughters to marry and set up housekeeping a spinning wheel was part of the standard equipment of the new home. It was the work of the village carpenter who in many cases also made the tables and chairs, the wardrobe, the bed, cradle, churn, the wooden bowls and platters, and much other household gear. The maple, pine and beech, used in The Christian life should be one the making, was the product of the paternal acres, cut down when the of continual growth. Insurance Against Drought

In the dog-days - from the middle of July to the middle of August — the average garden in the locality of Grimsby is apt to be A recent arrival home from an arid desert. The hose is very little use for it fails to reach the root of the matter. The garden has sached a climax in its career and lies exhausted, a prey to the merciless heat. The prevailing wind for the ton. Downie was prominent as a past seven years, a hot, high, and dry south-easter, adds to the scene

To tide the garden gracefully over this period let us consult the authorities to discover what annuals will flourish under Sahara Desert

Come to find out, there are quite a number. Portulaca, that he visited the four "Blitz Scouts" gems the ground with many-tinted blooms, is one of the best, particuwho toured Canada during the larly the single kind. It's a self-seeder, too, but better results are obso you can find them as soon as they ripen) for planting next spring. This bit of wisdom applies to most annuals. The dwarf marigold known as Tagetes pumila; California poppy; plenty of white Alyasum, without which no garden is complete; and dwarf anapdragons, are the lowgrowing annuals, and they all can take a lot of adversity with a smile. Now for some taller flowers, and most of these are good for cut-

"est sultan, which the children like to call "Queen Mary's Pincushion"; calendula, faithful until snow flies; centaurea; coreopsis; gaillardia, similar to the perennial of the same name but with a greater variety of colour combinations; marigolds, both French and African; and salpiglossis, the "Velvet Trumpet Flower," will all help to keep the garden going through the tired times. You may like a few giants in the background to stand guard. There are several varieties of flowers, ranging all the way from three to fourteen feet in height. Perilla nankinensis grows about three feet tall and make an excellent backdrop for flowering plants. Don't forget Lavstera imestris, of the Mallow tribe, or dainty, dauntless

With these in the garden, there'll be no shortage of gat flowers the house or to exchange with the neighbours. And don't forget that rick people like outcoor flowers from somebody ear's garden, even though there may be plenty in their own

The names "Fox" and Paragon still stand for lightness, strength and di ability in umbrel. "I dreamed of water under cool, grey skies," is a line that orten rises from the deep shining pool of memory to refresh us in a heat wave or when duty calls us to the shadeless places of the earth (not so far from Grimsby's Main Street, at that). Along with it comes a vision of the millpond on the lower edge of Ancaster village as you drive down its sloping street. The old mill, the trees reflected in the water, even an a cloudy day, and a pair or two of white ducks floating leisurely, so netimes with their small brood, is a mind-picture that can be counted on to ease the dry throat and cool the

Have you heard from your sold-Sgt. Air Gunner Lawrence R. North Grimsby; three brothers, ger boy, that he has received cigarettes or a parcel from our local organizations. You who have will realize the importance of carrying on the salvage campaign through the summer months.

It is almost impossible to or ganize a collection again until after the fruit crop is harvested, and some help available. How Do I Know Whether I am Physically Fit to Donate Biood? When prospective donors arrive at a Blood Donor Clinic they are interviewed by a physician. If the Jonors are found to be under par they are advised to consult their family doctor.

How Much Blood Do I Donate? 450 c.c which equads about % of a pint.

Do I Have to Go on a Special Diet Before Donations?

Only for the meal immediately preceding the donation which must be free from fats. A list of suggested foods is supplied to donors by the Blood Donor Clinics.

Clinic?

No. Since the blood is taken from the vein on the inside of the elbow, the donor is only required to bare the arm is It Very Painful to Donate During 1942?

No. The area from which the blood is drawn is anesthetized.

How Long Does This Take?

It takes only a few minutes for the donation to be given, but the person remains on the couch for about five minutes afterwards. Tea, coffee, or milk is served with doughnuts and cookies in the refreshment room. Usually it is possible to leave "the clinic within 45 minutes.

How is the Blood Taken and by Whom?

Every clinic is equipped with beds. The donor rests on his back with one arm outstretched sideways. A nurse cleans

The Canadian Red Cross Blood Ponor Service was instituted in January, 1940.

How Many Donations Were Made

Does the Red Cross Society Know How Much Blood Will Be Needed?

Over 181,000.

No. The demand will jump enormously when the Canadian Army goes into action. In January, 1942, the objective was 2,000 donations per week. By the close of the year the Red Cross was receiving 6,000 donations per week.

Has an Objective Been Set for up to a maximum of $2,000."

Yes, because of anticipated needs the Red Cross is asking the people of Canada to provide 12,000 donations each week.

Is Dried Serum as Good as a Direct Transfusion?

THREE OLD BUDDIES

George thought Sid was still in Australia!

"Chummy" Warner's Son-In-Law

How it came about was like this: George is married to a daughter of Mr. "Chummy" Warner, wellknown Weston swimmer and sportsman-and father of "Skiffy" Warner, Weston's best Soccer centre-half since the last war - who emigrated to Canada a good many years ago.

When Sid Belbin went to Canada he found employment-as a grower of roses - near Chummy, who was an old-time friend.

Well, when George Robertson came on leave to Weston, to see his brother in-law, Mr. Bill Warner, of Drove-road, he quickly learned that Sid Belbin was living in the town. Three Hours' Wait

Passing the Town Hall, he asked a newsyendor if he knew Bus Driver Bulbin, and, if so, where he was likely to meet him. The upshot was that the Canadian patiently waited three hours at the Town Hall for Sid to appear

Gee! they found so much to "" about that for the rest of his les re-George scarcely left Sid He even travelled on the buses which the other lrove on country routes, so that 1 emories of other days might be conjured up afresh

There was a memorable drownng rescue that was recalled, when Chummy's youngest son got in diffic:ties when swimming in Lake Ontario, and his sister, trying to pilot a raft to him, was seized with cramp. It ws Sid who plunged in and brought at ashore.

Bootleggers!

SUBTOUS And another incident, too, which gave them something to chuckle over, was on an occasion when George and Sid w ' riding in a small car across the wide, open

Another, bigger can passed them, and Sid challenged George, who was ut the wheel, not to let his old have be beaten. So down went the a reelecator, and for mile after mile New trailed the other car.

Suddenly they saw something fly from the car in front, by: paid little attention -until other similar objects were buried from the car.

George pulled up with a jerk. "D'you see what they'r throwing out?" he saked. "Why, it's bottles of whisky!"

True enough, it was! Turning back in their tracks, they collected eight or nine bottles.

The occupants of the front car were bootleggers, and they were seized with the fear that Sid and George were the "flying squad" on their track.
